

Scott Gaudineer, AIA, NCARB

AIA Service

VP Regulatory Affairs (2015-2016)

VP Practice and Regulation (2006-2008)

Director, Pasadena & Foothill Chapter 1991-1992 and 2004-2006 Regent,

California Architectural Foundation

Founding Member- AIACC Capital Forum Advocacy Committee

1998-2021 Chair 2000

Government Relations Committee (predecessor to Advocacy Committee) Chair, Business and Practice Committee 1993- 1994

President, P&FAIA 1991

Chair, DSA Advisory Board 2010- 2015 Various taskforces

and adhoc committees

Business

President of Flewelling & Moody, Inc., a 24-person architecture and planning firm based in Los Angeles. The primary building types: educational facilities, multi-family housing and commercial spaces.

B.S. Architecture and B. Architecture, Cal Poly, SLO

Philosophy

AIACC is the Voice of our profession. We must all, collectively, be a part of that Voice at the local and state level. Whether it is promoting environmental stewardship, championing livable communities or fostering equality, diversity and inclusiveness (EDI), we need to continue to be the "Architect in the Room".

We all have a passion for this great profession. Let us focus that passion by continuing to seek positive change for our members and businesses, promoting great architecture and mentoring the next generation. My passion is to serve AIACC and its members.

Goals

1. Continue to develop our local advocacy network in all chapters.
2. Cultivate and support partnerships with allied organizations to strengthen our Voice.
3. Increase our outreach to Colleges and high schools to engage our next generation of architects.

Objectives

1. Assist each Chapter to seek individuals and firms be the Voice at the local level.
2. Identify and engage member firms in each Chapter to recognize and support EDI principles as a matter of good business.
3. Coordinate opportunities for each Chapter to "adopt" at least one college and high school in their area to participate in Chapter events and programs.